CORONERS INQUEST

Gives Opinion On the Shooting of Jerry Lewis-Undecided Whether Pal, Grant Howard, Caused Fatal

The coroners' inquest over the death of Jerry Lewis, colored, who was shot a few days ago by Officer Dudley Bloomhuff, in a lively shooting scrape Slack presiding. The following composed the jury-Messrs. A. Clooney, Foreman, Charles Rhoemiller, James Walton, John Willis, Fred Thomas and Andrew J. Boyd. County Attorney W. H. Rees cross examined the witnesses. Chief of Police Mackey was the first witness and told of the message he received from Covington, asking the police in this city to search all freight trains for two negro men. Special Agent Thomas Stewart of the C. & O., was next on the stand and gave his version of the shooting. Officer Bloomhuff followed Stewart and told how he asked the dead negro to stop and who paid no attention but shot at him. After Mr. Bloomhuff, Dr. S. R. Harover took the stand and told the jury that the wound in the abdothat the negro had but little chance to survive after being shot in that spot. He also declared that all the story that he did not shoot at the ofas he did and as the Lewis negro was committed some crime and was ready running toward him when he fired, to resist arrest. and as he says that he did not fire at the officer, the police think that he might have fired at Lewis thinking that he shot the dead man. The unusually east spring and early summer retarded the sale of lingerie dresses, so we find our stock larger than it has ever been in mid-summer. The consequence is re-pricing at figures that are of great importance to you in point of economy. We also present a stock so generous in size, choosing from it will be a pleasure. It is a case of getting what you want instead of taking what you can get. Voiles in all white and in many pretty colors. A few white nets. Every dress is absolutely in fashion and has been carefully kept in dust proof cases so it shows no trace of handling but is as fresh as the day it was unpacked. ### OUR NOTES TO GERMANY AND ENGLAD

Washington's note to England and the Frye note to Germany, it is obvious, are in no wise to alter our neutral relationship to the war.

The demand on Germany, for compensation for the loss of the William P. Frye, already has brought, if not exactly the answer expected, at least the assurance that the sunken ship will be paid for; and there is no chance for a quarrel with a creditor who is willing to meet your bill in full.

Germany would be in a more consistent position in connection with her submarine activities against shipping using the waters of the British Isles if she had frankly repudiated the action of the captain of the Eitel and agreed to the American contention that the sinking of the Frye was unjustifiable The submarine order, it will be recalled, resulted from the refusal of England to permit neutral ships to bear foodstuffs to her ports; and the case of the Frye was that of a neutral ship carrying similar cargo to a British port.

But it is Germany's look out, not ours, if she elects to change her position, to the detriment of her own case, so long as the net result is the same.

As to the other note, the answer to the British order-in-council, neither its text nor the reception it has received at the hands of the British government is freighted with danger. The Administration had no alternative but to file its protest-its dissent from the right of a belligerent, except through an actual blockade or specific declarations of contraband, to interfere with commerce of neutrals. But the Washington government can hardly have had any expectation that the protest would cause the Allies to recede from their main purpose of cutting off Germany's supplies from abroad.

In this connection it may not be out of place to refer to the admirable position of American public sentiment as reflected in its leading newspapers. Nowhere is there evidence of a disposition to add to the difficulties of the Administration in the handling of the many delicate and complicated questions which have arisen during the war. On all sides is to be found a spirit of patriotic concurrence in its efforts to uphold American dignity and preserve American rights; and as long as this | shaft.' "-Exchange.

spirit lasts no one need fear American involvement in the quarrel without just cause.

Meantime Germany reproaches us for our refusal to prohibit the sale of munitions to her enemies. England some times grows querulous because we insist on asserting principles which which to be always have been part of the warp and woof of our foreign policy. But the chances are that when the war is over and the fighting nations again look through normal spectacles, they will acknowledge from insects is to hang them in fresh that never has a great nation more scrupulously air and sunshine, but such exposure striven to maintain officially an attitude of correct invites the moth miller to deposit her neutrality.

Maysville People Have Found That Ill Health Follows

Do you ever feel that you simply can't go any further-that you must have rest from that lame and aching back-relief from the sonstant, deadtired feeling-freedom from thos stabbing, darting pains? Likely your kidneys are worn and tired and need help. The kidneys work night and day, removing uric acid from the blood and other waste created by expenditure of strength and energy. Naturally a life of unusual activity doubles the duties of the kidneys and in time the strain generally tells. Doan's Kidney Pills have brought new strength to thousands of bad backs and quick relief to weakened kidneys, so users say. Let them do the same for you.

S. O. Duncan, blacksmith, Flemingsburg, Ky., says: "I had severe backaches and my kidneys were out of order, their action being irregular. Hearof their merit. They strengthened my kidneys and back."

Exhibit Car of the Kentucky Tuberculosis Commission

THE Tuberculosis Commission equipped a railroad coach with an exhibit regarding tuberculosis and how to prevent the spread of the disease and has sent it to many points in the state. By means of pictures, descriptions, toy houses and electric devices the whole story of the cause, cure and prevention of consumption is told in graphic form for the passerby. In a little over a year 68,000 people have been reached in all sections of the state. Especial pains have been taken to reach teachers and school children so that this message of good health may be communicated through them to as many people as possible.

PRESIDENT AND CABINET AGREE ON NEW REPLY

Winchester, Ky., July 17, 1915. Secretary Lansing Busy Formulating Ideas Decided Upon-Strict Secrecy is Commanded

Washington, July 20 .- President Wilson and his cabinet decided today on the general principles of the note Mr. Garrett is now serving his first their rights on the high seas. The from officials upon what the action of month, the draft of a communication answering the German government's note of July 8, which failed to grant the demands of the United States growing out of the sinking of the Luform. On its character and purposes, however, there was unanimous agreement, and Secretary Lansing was at work tonight putting in more precise language the ideas set forth. Members of the cabinet generally preserved secrecy regarding the probable contents of the communication and the president cautioned againet detailed speculation in advance of the publication of the document, lest mistaken impressions be cabled abroad before the actual text is received in Berlin. Such information as was obtainable concerning the nature of the 21, 1915. new note was chiefly of a negative character. Cabinet officers made it clear that it would not be an ultimatum or make any threats as to the future purposes of the United States. At the same time they pointed out that it would probably have an air of finality, curtailing the field of discussion and negotiation and placing squarely on Germany the responsibility for any actions that might subsequently endanger the friendly relations of the two countries. The communication will be couched in friendly it of firmness that has characterized previous notes.

Today's conference was devoted to an extent to a discussion of what the American people really wanted the Washington government to say and do in the present crisis. So far as the cabinet officers could judge by their examination of public expressions, the nation had voiced an insistent desire Parties calling for same will please his coming race, that our mountain that the honor and dignity of the Unit- say "advertised." ed States be followed which would

Too Nervous To Drive a Car?

That's too bad, old man, but you know nervousness is largely due to wrong habits of eating and drinking. If you would quit coffee and use Postum your nerves would steady up.

Postum tastes much like fine, mild Java but there's no drug in it-that's where it's got coffee beat a mile.

Sound advice.

More and more, people are waking up to the harmful effects of caffeine-the drug in coffee-a frequent cause of nervousness, heart flutter, dizziness, headache and other ailments.

motor car industry of Europe.

Practically every royal and titled family in Europe owns one or more Knight motored cars.

The Knight type motor is the nearest approach to 100% efficiency.

This motor differs from other motors in that where all others deteriorate with use, this improves; to all others carbon is harmful, here it is beneficial; size for size it has more

It has no noisy poppet valves; no noisy cams; no uncertain valve springs; no troublesome valves to grind; practically no wearing parts,
